FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

STARZ REPORTS SECOND QUARTER 2016
FINANCIAL RESULTS

Englewood, Colo. - July 28, 2016 - Starz (NASDAQ: STRZA, STRZB) today reported second quarter 2016 results. Highlights include⁽¹⁾:

- Reached $4.4 billion cash and stock deal to merge with Lions Gate

Financial Highlights:

- Reported consolidated revenue of $402.6 million; operating income of $105.4 million; fully diluted earnings per share of $0.54 and Adjusted OIBDA⁽²⁾ of $127.4 million
- Starz Networks reported revenue of $343.1 million; operating income of $121.1 million and Adjusted OIBDA of $132.1 million

Operating Highlights:

- Increased STARZ subscriptions by 200,000 since March 31, 2016 to a new high of 24.2 million; combined STARZ and STARZ ENCORE subscriptions of 56.0 million
- Starz Digital licensed “The Girlfriend Experience” to Amazon in the UK, Germany, Austria and Japan
- Launched STARZ app on Roku and Android TV platforms
- STARZ PLAY Arabia officially launched in Egypt and Saudi Arabia, now serving 19 Middle East/North Africa countries

Programming Highlights:

- “Power” third season premiere episode telecast set new record viewership for STARZ Original series⁽³⁾; renewed for seasons four and five
- “Outlander” concluded successful second book; renewed series for books three and four

Chris Albrecht, Starz President and Chief Executive Officer, added, “We performed very well in the second quarter, delivering strong financial results at Starz Networks and establishing a new record high of 24.2 million subscribers for STARZ. ‘Outlander’ and ‘The Girlfriend Experience’ grew viewership across multiple platforms demonstrating that our original programming continues to make Starz a ‘must-have’ service for consumers. We are thrilled with the record-setting viewership for the third season premiere episode telecast of “Power” and look forward to a strong third season from the critically-acclaimed “Survivor’s Remorse.” The new STARZ app is proving to be an enormous value proposition for consumers, as people look for additional ways to access our highly-rated, award-winning and diverse original programming and vast library of movies. We were excited to announce the planned merger with Lions Gate, which will enable the combined company to capitalize on content opportunities across multiple platforms. As we move forward, we are confident in the prospects for Starz and believe that we can be even stronger in combination with Lions Gate.”

Consolidated

Revenue decreased 4% to $402.6 million, operating income decreased 5% to $105.4 million and Adjusted OIBDA increased 3% to $127.4 million.

Starz Networks

Revenue increased 3% to $343.1 million as a result of rate increases from various distributors partially offset by lower average subscriptions. Operating income increased 9% to $121.1 million and Adjusted OIBDA increased 8% to $132.1 million due to higher revenue and lower programming costs partially offset by higher selling, general and administrative expenses, including marketing costs associated with the launch of our new STARZ app and increased litigation costs. Cash paid for investment in films and television programs decreased $9.7 million to $61.5 million.

Starz Distribution

Revenue decreased 23% to $60.0 million, operating income decreased $6.5 million to a loss of $5.4 million and Adjusted OIBDA decreased $6.6 million to a loss of $4.6 million. These decreases were primarily a result of fewer significant new release titles from The Weinstein Company. Also contributing to the decrease in operating income and Adjusted OIBDA was an increase in bad debt. Cash paid for investment in films and television programs decreased $50.9 million to $2.8 million due to timing of payments under our distribution agreement with The Weinstein Company.

Eliminations/Other

Operating loss increased $9.5 million to $10.3 million due to merger related costs.

Share Repurchases

From May 1, 2016 through June 30, 2016, 0.9 million shares of common stock were purchased at an average cost per share of $26.75 for total cash consideration of $23.7 million. Since trading began on January 14, 2013, Starz has repurchased 29.8 million shares at an average cost per share of $28.29 for aggregate cash consideration of $843.3 million. These repurchases represent 24.5% of the shares outstanding as of January 14, 2013. Starz currently has $356.7 million remaining under its share repurchase authorization. Under the merger agreement with Lions Gate, Starz is prohibited from repurchasing its common stock. Accordingly, there will be no repurchases of common stock through the closing of the merger.

FOOTNOTES

- (1) Starz's President and CEO Chris Albrecht and CFO Scott Macdonald will discuss these highlights and other matters during the Starz earnings conference call, which will begin at 5:00 p.m. (ET) on July 28, 2016. NON-GAAP FINANCIAL MEASURES

This press release includes a presentation of Adjusted OIBDA, which is a non-GAAP financial measure, together with a reconciliation to operating income, as determined under GAAP. We evaluate performance and make decisions about allocating resources to our operating segments based on financial measures such as Adjusted OIBDA. We define Adjusted OIBDA as revenue less programming costs, production and acquisition costs, home video cost of sales, operating expenses and selling, general and administrative expenses, but excluding all stock compensation expense. Our chief operating decision maker uses this measure of performance in conjunction with other measures to evaluate our operating segments' performance and make decisions about allocating resources among our operating segments. We believe that Adjusted OIBDA is an important indicator of the operational strength and performance of our operating segments, including each operating segment's ability to assist in servicing our debt and to fund investments in films and television programs. In addition, this measure allows management to view operating results and perform analytical comparisons and benchmarking between operating segments and identify strategies to improve performance.

This measure of performance excludes stock compensation, merger related costs and depreciation and amortization that are included in the measurement of operating income pursuant to GAAP. The primary material limitations associated with the use of Adjusted OIBDA as compared to GAAP results are (i) it may not be comparable to similarly titled measures used by other companies in our industry, and (ii) it excludes financial information that some may consider important in evaluating our performance. We compensate for these limitations by providing a reconciliation of Adjusted OIBDA to GAAP results to enable investors to perform their own analysis of our operating results. Accordingly, Adjusted OIBDA should be considered in addition to, but not as a substitute for, operating income, income before income taxes, net income, net cash provided by (used in) operating activities and other measures of financial performance prepared in accordance with GAAP. Please see the Reconciling Schedule below for the applicable reconciliation.

RECONCILING SCHEDULE

The following table provides a reconciliation of Adjusted OIBDA for Starz Consolidated, Starz Networks, Starz Distribution and Eliminations/Other to operating income calculated in accordance with GAAP for the three months ended June 30, 2015, September 30, 2015, December 31, 2015, March 31, 2016 and June 30, 2016, respectively.

Excerpts from the Earnings Call

Christopher P. Albrecht, Chief Executive Officer, President, Director and Member of Executive Committee of Starz

I'll start by highlighting the agreement we recently entered into with Lions Gate. We believe this transaction is a transformative moment for our company and an excellent deal for our stockholders for a number of reasons. I'll highlight a few them. Financially, this delivers real value for Starz' shareholders offering a significant premium to Starz at the time of the announcement. We also expect substantial synergy opportunities to drive incremental value for shareholders. Strategically, Lions Gate is a very well-regarded producer of content, and together with Starz, we will form the largest independent film and television company in the world. We will have real opportunities to extend globally the reach of that content across multiple distribution platforms.

Operationally, Starz will maintain its separate identity and continue to build on the great brand equity created with our growing subscriber fan base. Our strategy remains intact, and we'll continue to make progress against our stated target of 80 to 90 episodes of compelling and diverse original programming per year.

In addition, I have tremendous respect for the leadership of Lions Gate and the enthusiasm they have for this acquisition. Jon Feltheimer, Michael Burns and their team have built the first major Hollywood studio in decades. We have similar entrepreneurial cultures and a shared vision of the future of the entertainment industry, which we will believe -- which we believe will create very attractive opportunities for our combined company.

Scott D. Macdonald, Chief Financial Officer, Executive Vice President and Treasurer of Starz

The transaction with Lions Gate is not anticipated to have an impact on our total programming expense per year.

In future quarters, we will not be buying back our common stock as we are prohibited from such purchases under the Lions Gate merger agreement.

Question & Answer

Ryan Fiftal, Morgan Stanley, Research Division

Congratulations to you and the team on completing the deal. 2 questions, if I can. So first, maybe going back to the strategic merits of the deal. Chris, can you elaborate, maybe elaborate a little more on why you think the combination makes Starz a stronger network? And maybe what are the things that you're excited about that you can do as a combined entity that you really couldn't do as a stand-alone?

Christopher P. Albrecht, Chief Executive Officer, President, Director and Member of Executive Committee

Sure. I mean, one of the things that kind of baffles me is how many people don't get it. Look, I mean, I could make a long, long list of benefits that accrue to both companies in this transaction, starting with the fact that there's going to be a great team in the CEO suite, starting with Jon Feltheimer and Michael. And I'm joining there. I'm in for the long run, I'm excited about this. I look forward to creating a partnership with John. I look forward to putting together these 2 companies that are at exciting points. Just in a very simple basic way of thinking, we're in the content IP creation business and the distributing and monetization of those rights that come along with that IP. Well, first of all, we're going to be a magnet for talent. I mean, the size and the experience and the relationships and the know-how, the track record, we're going to have the financial wherewithal to do many more things that we've done before. The merged company is just going to be able to far more effectively attract content. And honestly, the Lions Gate guys, together with the library they have, are going to do a better job of monetizing that content than we are able to do as a standalone company. That's pretty important. Lions Gate's also going to be a perfect partner for shows that may need partners, and we won't need to look elsewhere. It's going to allow us to better manage things in a more effective way, and I think that's important. They're also going to be strong partners in building exciting new domestic and international digital businesses, which can capitalize on what I think will be the volume of content creation and deep library stuff that's available. But I also look at it -- it's like a show. I mean, start with a great idea, which is combining these companies. You got great executive producers, which are the people that I just mentioned. You put a great staff in the room and then you go about and do your work. And aside from putting together what I think will be a really successful enterprise, there are so many things that not only are we thinking about and putting down on pages and things that you'll read about when this S-4 gets filed, but there's also the kind of -- I use this word because I really believe it happens in our business. The kind of magic that gets created when you just put a lot of smart people in a room with a good business model and the means and the wherewithal to execute. So I'm looking forward to the S-4 getting filed. It's a joint filing. Scott says we're not going to talk about it now, and that's going to explain a lot of things. But boy, there are so many things that we are going to be able to do together. This -- if we didn't believe in the company, we were doing pretty well on our own. If we didn't believe that this combination was going to make us much stronger, I guarantee you the management and the board of this company would not have made this transaction. So no doubt that this is just the beginning of something terrific.
